For the Republican.

LINES ON A GRECIAN BENDER.

BY J. G. LONDEN.

'Twas but last night, I saw a sight
Of fashion and of fancy;
To tell the name, would be a shame—
So I'll simply call her Nancy.
Now Nancy was a tough old maid,
And may this season end her:
For don't you think, she bought and paid
For a "tarnal" Grecian Bender.

So it was last night she put it on,
And in fashion's way arrayed it—
And thought it was a real boe-ton,
She blessed the man that made it.
So forth she went, upon the street,
To catch the masculine gender;
Of course she thought, whoe'er she'd meet
Would praise her Grecian Bender.

But bright hopes do sometimes fade,
Especially in rey weather;
For but few steps had Nancy made,
Until she was altogether—
And when a persons "back is up,"
And they should chance to fail;
No matter how the ice is set,
The back doth catch it all.

Just so with Nancy's Grecian Bend,
It was the first to "light;"
And just to view the matter there,
Was indeed, a sight.
Here, and there, lie teeth and hair,
And to make the story end;
Not far away, there, smashed up lay
A worthless Grecian Bend.

And I am sure, it proved a cure,
To this ambitious Nancy;
For I heard her say, she'd do away,
With all such "backed up" Fancy—
And before I end, I'll say my friend,
If you would but offend her,
Just whisper near to she may hear
About her Grecian Bender.

Select Miscellany.

A Hopeless Woman.

She was walking up Fulton street at midday. The sun was shining in his meridian glory. Yet she was a hopeless woman." All was deep darkness. The very heavens seemed hung in sackcloth. Life was a burden. She was overwhelmed with wretchedness and sorrow. No star of hope was in all the sky. If life were blotted out, would it not be a relief? It seemed so. The future could be no worse than the present. All is dark—dark—dark. Sin, realized to be sin, stared her in the face, and filled her with unutterable anguish. Who could fathom it? She saw the sign of the

"FULTON STREET PRAYER MEETING"

"Come in for ten or fifteen minutes, or the whole hour." So it said. A sudden impulse seized her; she went into the drug store opposite, and wrote a request for prayer, which she signed, "A Hopeless Woman." She so quietly deposited it upon the leader's desk, that when it was read no one knew from whom it came. But when it was read, the meeting was very much moved by it. Many eyes were turned over the assembly to see if they could discover who was so hopeless as the writer represented herself to be. But none knew her, and the meeting proceeded in its usual earnest manner, and the great burden of supplication in all the prayers was that this hopeless woman might find a good hope in Jesus Christ.

She could not keep long concealed, for there was found a woman, after the services were over, who was burdened under a dreadful load of sin and sorrow, whose very life was a weariness to her, and who that morning had come into the neighborhood of the prayer meeting without the slightest purpose of attending it until she was seized all at once with the desire to be made the subject of prayer.

After the services were over, she was sought out and very earnestly recommended to betake herself to the Saviour of sinners, who came to seek and to save them who are lost. We shall never forget the look of blank despair which clouded her intelligent and fine face, making that despair all the more easily revealed. We commended her to the God of all grace, and endeavored to persuade her to hope in His mercy.

She persisted in saying, "There is no mercy for me." She evidently said it because she more deeply felt it than mere words could describe.

She was a widow—the mother of three children, all in early childhood. She was very poor in this world's goods, though she was not a sufferer from penury. Her great want was wholly of a spiritual nature. The weight of sin was awful—too intolerable to be borne. She felt not so much her danger, as her guilt as a sinner in the sight of God.—She believed she was too guilty to be pardoned. She had led an outwardly moral life; but her heart was a sad sight for her to contemplate, and she turned away from it with the conviction that she was a sinner past all hope of redemption.

So she remained for days. She got no relief in the prayer meetings; yet she continued to come, day after day, and her case was made the subject of repeated prayers. A deep interest was felt in her spiritual welfare, and many hearts breathed out the prayer, "Send her to the rock that is higher than we." Many prayers were offered for and with her. She was visited at her dwelling by the missionary of the Old Church and others, and exhorted to lift up her believing regard to the Lamb of God who taketh away the sins of the world.

When asked why she could not believe on Jesus and cast all her burden at his feet, she would answer:

"O! you do not understand my case. I am a great sinner, and there is no hope or help for me. I cannot be forgiven."

"Cannot be forgiven? Whom did Christ ever fail to forgive who came to Him for forgiveness?

But they were not such as I."

"Yes just such as you. And to just such as you Jesus says, 'Him that cometh unto Me, I will in no wise cast out.' Hear Him say, 'Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow and though they be red like crimson they shall be as wool.'"

"Not mine—not mine," she would answer. And then the black cloud of hopelessness would seem to settle down deeper than ever; and the more her heart struggled to be free, the more it was filled with despair.

"Oh! what shall I do? what shall I do?" she would sometimes say in her agony. And then after a moment her countenance would bear the expression of sullen repose. She could not be at rest, and yet she tried to be; and to appear calm when all within was terrible commotion.

A woman of strong mind and of very decided character, strong in her will, deep in her convictions, affectionate in her nature, she wrote the most bitter things against herself. Her conscience was her worst accuser. She took the threatenings of the Bible all to herself.

"I am a poor lost woman," she said one day.

"As poor and lost as you," said the missionary, in reply, "has once been every child of God on earth and inheaven. Just as lost as you are—and they would every one tell you so, if they could speak to you, and their experience has been just what yours must be, the power of saving grace. 'Of his own mercy he saved us,' with one united voice they cry; not of him that willeth nor of him that runneth, but of God that showeth mercy.

"Remember, if you are a great sinner, Christ is a great Saviour. Just think of that, and pray God to have mercy on you for Jesus' sake—for Jesus' sake. Just pray for that. You bewail your sins, but you keep great reproach on Christ.—You just as much as say, 'He cannot save me,' when he says He can; for he is able and willing and who are you, to contradict and deny his willingness and power. He is able and he is willing."

The shaft sunk deep into that unbelieving heart. The spell was broken—She adopted a new style of prayer—prayer for forgiveness of all her sins, for Jesus' sake. She said:

"The more I asked mercy for Jesus' sake the more I felt I should obtain mercy. I kept pleading with God "for Jesus' sake." And for Jesus' sake I now feel that blessed assurance that my iniquities are blotted out. Before I thought I must be heard for my own asking, till I found my asking for my own sake availed nothing. Now I ask for the sake of Him whom the Father heareth always.

"Oh! what joy I feel that God can pardon sin for Jesus' sake. Why did I not see that before? Now I see and feel it with a joy which is unutterable and full of glory. I can scarcely refrain from singing day and night—

"'All hail the power of Jesus' name
Let angels prostrate fall
Bring forth the royal diadem
And crown Him Lord of all.'

Oh! my poor heart crowned Him my Lord and my all—yes, my Lord and my all henceforth and forever mine—mine in life and in death—mine in time and through eternal ages mine."

This so lately hopeless woman became one of the most hopeful of women. Her beaming face bespoke the great peace which passeth all understanding, which flows as a river and which now possessed her whole soul and pervaded her whole being. She was never afraid nor ashamed to confess her faith in Christ.

"Through eternal ages mine." She acted as she felt—that Christ was hers and she was His.

Years have passed away. "Manifold more in this present time" was this woman's experience. No more pining in want—no more anxieties and distresses.

She immediately became an earnest worker in her blessed Master's cause. She became a Bible reader, a tract distributor and a visitor to asylum and hospitals. She rose up into a higher plane of society and action than she had ever moved in before. She married a gentleman of means and position, and now moves in the best circles of Christian life. She is the same joyous working Christian as years ago. I know of no more happy woman than she is. I saw her in church last Sabbath evening seated in the midst of a great crowded congregation, her glowing, radiant face betokening the deep interest which she took in the exercise of the hour; no mere a hopeless woman, but a priceless woman—all price beyond—a woman saved.

"You never saw such a happy lot of people as we had here yesterday," said a landlady in Indiana to a newly arrived guest; "there were thirteen couples of 'em." "What! thirteen couples just married?" "Oh, no sir; fifteen couples just divorced."

A LADY having bought sausages of a couple of boys, overheard them disputing about the money. "Give me half," said one. "No, I won't," says the other. "Now, that ain't fair, you know tain't, Joe, for half the pup was mine"

The most contemptible weakness in our world is the disposition to despise labor as inconsistent with genteel and refined cultivation. No person is truley independent who is not possessed of a knowledge of some trade or business, in which he could earn a support in case of need.

A white woman in Louisiana has been initiated as priestess of the Toudoo Order. The ceremony consists of an incantation, in which the novitiate danced, clad in a single white garment, within a charmed circle of beef-bones and skeletons, toads' feet and spiders, with camphor and kerosene oil sprinkled about.

Two Hibernians who were reeling home from Gonrock, a village in Scotland, quarrelled. "Pat," says one' "come into this field, and I'll fight ye." "Murphy," said the other, "if you do I'll kill ye." "Well," said Pat, "if you do, I'm not the man to say anything about it." This may appear like an invention, but it is an actual fact.

A prisoner in England, when called upon by the alderman for defense, said: "I've ordered a lawyer for to-morrow, and I hope your worship will be so good as to put it off till he comes."

"Why, what can your lawyer say about it?"

"That's what I want to know, your worship," said the prisoner.

A little girl got to school in Danbury, Conn., the other morning just as it commenced, and her teacher said, "You are just in time, Susie." Then turning to the other scholars, she asked, "In time for what, children?" And band went up, and an intelligent boy thus signified he had solved the problem. "Well, Thomas just in time for what?" "Lanagan's ball!" shouted the promising youth.

The Freedmen's Bureau.

During its existence, the Freedmen's Bureau was the subject of constant malignant attack by the mindless and soulless journals and statesmen of the Democratic party. A short time since, General Howard made what may be termed a concluding statement of its workings. Measuring its importance by the results he makes known, no department of the Government has proved more directly beneficial to the nation, and certainly none has proved a more worthy exponent of all that is philanthropic and Christian-like among an enlightened people.—Scarcely thirteen millions have been expended by the Government for the Bureau during all the years of its existence. Its termination at the beginning of the year, for all purposes except the collection of bounties for colored soldiers and the completion of local common-school systems in sections where its influence had not been previously or had been imperfectly felt, left four millions of colored citizens comparatively independent. To have thrown them upon their own resources at a time when the section they inhabited was impoverished, and without laws adapted to their changed circumstances, would have been a crime of the greatest magnitude, and one which would have recoiled upon this nation in the form of a war of races or the destruction of a useful labor element by disease and starvation. For thirteen million dollars, then, the Government has made manumission a matter of safety to the blacks, and enfranchisement a practical success. For thirteen million dollars, hundreds of millions' worth of labor has been saved to the South and the nation, and its utility has been made immediate. For thirteen million dollars a common-school system embracing every grade of school, from the lowest to the higest, has been established for the freedmen throughout the South, the means of providing an ample supply of colored teachers have been placed within their reach, and the schools have been peopled with two hundred and fifty thousand enthusiastic pupils. For thirteen million dollars, tens of thousands have been fed and clothed until their own industry could become available for support; and this charity, it must be remembered, was extended to white as well as black in very nearly equal proportion. For thirteen million dollars, the millions of bounty and pension money due the colored soldiers or their familes have been secured to them. Was ever so much done with so little?—Verily the crumb cast upon the water has returned a multitude of loaves. The wisdom of our statesmen has been amply vindicated, and the dignity of the Government sustained. He must be cold-hearted, nay, a base man, that could wish this great work undone, or that now repines at its having been done.—History will claim it as one of the most perspicacious movements in her annals. Philanthropy will rejoice at it. Polity will embrace it. The intellectual and Christain future will vindicate it.—Philadelphia Press.

How He Stopped Them.

A preacher in Kentucky, who was often annoyed by the habit of people leaving church before the conclusion of the service, determined to break the practice up. So one day he was "drawing his bow at a venture," when a nice young man started out. But A——, without lowering his voice, cried out: "A word with you, young man. You should not interrupt the congregation by going out in time of service." Then, pausing a moment, he said: "Now I remember, I took a man to task over at Shawnee Run for going out and brethern what do you think he turned out to be? What they called a lunatic! So go on, young man, maybe you are one of that sort." After a while two or three young women started out, and he let out at them thusly, "Young ladies, it ain't good manners to walk out while preaching is going on." But pausing a moment, he exclaimed: "Go on, I forgot at the moment that it was water melon time." There was no more going out that day.

Not the Wife's Fault.

An unsuspecting and candid son of Erin, who had just arrived in New York went to see his sister who was married to a Yankee. The couple lived very happily in the city, and when Pat came the gentleman took him over his place to show it to him. Pat at the evidence of prosperity, said to his brother-in-law:

"Begary, you are very happy with this fine property to live on; me sisters had good luck intirely, so she had, in gettin' you for a husband."

"Ah, yes," responded the married man, "we would be very happy but for one thing!"

"And what's that?" asked Pat.

"Ah. Pat," returned the gentleman, "I'm sorry to say that we have no children."

"No children!" exclaimed Pat; "then begary, it's not me sister Maggie's fault for she had two before she left Ireland, and that's the rayson me father sent her to America."

A MARYLAND negro, now more than 80 years of age, who manifests much interest in the freedmen's schools of that State was recently asked if he had learning himself, to which he replied, "Only what I got behind the plow tail—stole it like." When he was asked, "How is that, uncle?" he replied, "

BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, Jan. 5, 1870.

ADVERTISING.—The BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN has a larger circulation than any other Republican paper published in the county. Our merchants and business men will please make a note of this.

To Our Readers.

With this number we commence our second volumn. It is our intention to publish, weekly, a synopsis of Congressional and Legislative news and at the same time, as much of the current news of the day as we can find space for. We also intend to keep our readers well posted in politics, and keep a close eye on the Democratic Watchman and the Court House Ring.

We have made arrangements for the purchase of a power press, and other necessary material for a first class job office. Our paper, although large enough for all practical purposes, must, from our increasing patronage, be enlarged.

We will close this paragraph by saying to our Republican friends everywhere, stand by the REPUBLICAN, and we will give you a paper worth double what it costs, and one that will be an honor to the town, county, and the great Republican party.

Hon. E. M. Stanton.

Hon. E. M. Stanton, the great War Minister, the great Lawyer and wise Statesmen, is dead. He died in Washington city a few days after he was appointed by the President, and unanimously ratified by the Senate, as a Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Hon. E. M. Stanton was emphatically one of America's greatest and purest Statesmen. He was loved and honored by every loyal and patriotic citizen, and only hated by 'evil doers,' and those who sympathized with the rebels in their efforts to destroy the Government.

The Springfield Republican speaking of Mr. Stanton says: "In the last days of the Buchanan Cabinet, he did noble work for the Union, and even gave a slight savor of grace to the character of that old public functionary himself. Afterwards, when again in private life, during the first year of the Lincoln administration, no man was more zealous than he for prompt and aggressive action against the rebels. He was a frequent contributor, at that time, to the editorial columns of the N. Y. Tribune, and some of the most vigorous "On-to-Richmond" articles were from his pen; while from the hour when he was called to take Mr. Cameron's place at the head of the War Department his record is the story of the Government's struggle equally against doubt and indecision and incompetency in the North and in the national army, and against the onslaught of treason from the South."

The Pennsylvania Legislature.

For the information and edification of the members of the Legislature of this State, which will shortly convene at Harrisburg, we print the following Russian fable. It runs thus:

"A marmot meeting a fox, ask him why he is running so fast. 'Because,' replied the fox, 'I have been calumniously charged with robbery. Would you believe it? They actually accuse me of stealing poultry. I appeal to you. Have you ever seen me do such a thing?' 'I cannot say that I have,' answered the marmot; 'but I have often remarked that there was down on your muzzle.'"

The Fabulist observes further, that many an official complains that his salary is inadequate, and that he is forced to spend every rouble he has, and all the town knows that originally he had nothing, and he got nothing with his wife. But see! Little by little he builds a house; he buys an estate; (and he might have added, invests in stocks and bonds.) Now, in what manner can you reconcile his salary with his expenditure? Although you can prove nothing legally, yet you will not be committing a sin if you say, "that fellow has down on his muzzle."

We hope our solons, who go to Harrisburg, will beware of down on their muzzles. They may not see it, but there are eyes upon them, and sharp ones, too, that will detect the least item.

We hope for honesty, uprightness and integrity in the future. Humiliating as the admission may be, it is nevertheless true, that the conduct of many members, within the past few years, has made the Legislature of this State a reproach and disgrace. It is no longer an honor to a man to be a member of that body. On the contrary, it subjects him to suspicion. There have been, and there will be this year, a number of good, honest men in that body; but whether they will outnumber the rogues remains to be seen.—We hope for the best, but our fears and former experience lead us to fear much.—Altoona Tribune, Dec. 22.

THE Legislature assembled yesterday. Up to the time of going to press, (Tuesday evening) we have heard nothing in regard to its organization; but we presume Mr. Strang, of Tioga County, will be elected Speaker. What effect the election of Mr. Strang will have upon the election of State Treasurer, or upon the "Mackey Plate" we cannot at present determine.

Letter From Howard Borough,

Twenty-third Annual Session of the Centre county Teachers Institute.

EDS. REPUBLICAN:—The proceeding of the Institute proved more voluminous than we had at first anticipated, and the major part of such minor importance as to not warrant our framing each day's routine of action in accordance with the manner of our communication of the 27th ult., therefore, we simply present our opinions of its most important feature, endeavoring near as possible to follow the order of their arrangement as laid down in the printed circulars.

THE EXERCISES.

The Synthetical and Analytical recitation in English Grammar, conducted by Mr. Henry Meyer, in the classification of sentences, with regard to their logical construction, we consider as more appropriately belonging to the higher science of the outlines of the Laws of Thought, and our greatest objection to this combination, under our present common school system, is the great number of primary pupils who, of necessity, must be neglected for the comparatively few so far proficient as to receive attention in this advanced grade. In support of this objection we counted but twenty teachers, of the one hundred and fifteen, who were able to analyze the sentences given, and yet to instruct analytically and practically, in our common school system English Grammar, we do not believe there was a single teacher here but is competent. We copied the following sentences from the Bulletin Board, there written as correct in construction:—"They kneeled before they fought." "When the wind blows the trees wares."—"John Smith was exploring Virginia, when he was taken captive." The first and second sentences we submit without comment, and the third we merely state as proving a knotty one beyond their ability to unravel.

THE LECTURES.

Col A. H. Chase is entitled to be classed as 1st speaker of the session, and in his lecture on "Character" evinced a thorough knowledge of human nature, but we think in one fatal assertion few will agree with him,—"that character is entirely the creature of circumstances." His classification of men according to their predominating passion was a happy one; but that the suspicious man is inherently so, we dispute, and are charitable enough to rather contend suspicion as engendered by contact with dishonesty. The parsimonious man was so similar to the selfish man as to render one a synonim of the other.

The address of Prof. Leisher, subject: 'The parent in the School-room,' was delivered in a dignified and melodious tone, with good effect, was replete with plain common sense, and clearly established a parent as the best judge of a child's advancement inside the school-room, and of filial affection being the greatest incentive to study by which a pupil can be influenced.—The address was delivered too wearisome, by the last half of it being little more than a retrospect of the first.

In the lecture on Chemistry, by the same gentleman, we noted the following seemingly absurd tenet: "that dying we live—living we die," or "that oxygen is necessary to preserve life, and yet is continually destroying it." Since the days of Mr. L's. chemical authority a more plausible theory has been advanced, that the duration of all animal life is measured and governed by the time of growth, and oxygen instead of a dimunition of life is a sustenance to it.

Prof. Schultz recited a beautiful poem entitled "The World's History." His reading was good, his apostrophe to Washington grand, and his closing verse decidedly Republican.

Mr. J. A. Bright, of Chillicothe, Illinois, delivered a lecture upon "The Expulsion of the Bible from the Public Schools of Ohio," his subject was an important one, but read too rapidly, and his quoting a blasphemy we condemn as marring the subject, and also a weak defense in the cause of christian progress.

The lecture on Geology and Mineralogy, by Rev. S. J. Dorsey, showed great research, but was delivered in a harsh, stern tone, and imperative manner, seeming to convey us the idea "that he had addressed over one hundred audiences, and as yet has found none capable of appreciating him."—In his description of an unpronounciable rock of a bluish grey color and smooth greasy appearance he claimed Hornblen as one of the component parts, which we dispute, and claim Hornblen as of volcanic origin, brittle in texture like absinian and red gossan rock; of the color and appearance of oak charcoal; will mingle with no other class, and is found with gold and silver-bearing quartz. That his style of speaking was not in keeping with his clerical robes, none will dispute; but we admit there was somewhat of a mysterious LATINITY grandeur in many of his discertations that made a weigh ty impression on his hearers, from the very fact of our inability to understand them.

Prof. Super's lecture on "Music" is worthy of mention; also Prof. Emantrant's on "Memory and its culture." Dr. Fisher's subject—"Atmosphere and its relation to our lives," were both well read and highly interesting.

A number of other eminent lecturers were present, but to avoid occupying too much space in your columns we mention them in a general way as giving much valuable information.

THE ESSAYS

we kavn't the hardness of heart to cruelly criticise—nor the ladies who read them—for we venture to say there was not a single man in the audience but was refreshed with hearing their sweet voices, and seeing their darling faces on the rostrum, for they certainly were almost heavenly when contrasted with the phiz of Smull, McLee, Leisher or Dorsey.

IRREGULAR PROCEEDINGS.

First—Under this caption was the defeat of the following resolution, which the wisdom of having published the presiding officer thought doubtful:

"Resolved, That while the wisdom of the too common-use of corporal punishment is doubtful, yet, that if used with judgment it ought not to be entirely discarded."

Second—The passing of an amendment to confirm a section of the State Common School Laws now in force.

Third—In discussing the propriety of permanently locating the Institute Bellefonte, one worthy member on the affirmative, in nicely rounded and beautiful words, proved their superior talents and education would shine brighter and be more fully appreciated in B., as "there they would undoubtedly have a professional audience." Another, on the same side, in his remarks alluded to indecorum in the audience during the session, as an important reason in favor of the question.

Now we abhor gossiping, but in justice to our community, we deny that a single citizen of Howard, or a visitor from anywhere else, was guilty of disorderly conduct; but on the other hand all shameful proceedings were enacted by members of the Institute. For some very excellent reasons mentioned we consider Bellefonte as the proper locality for the Institute, but if teachers will forget their standing in such a quiet and peaceful little town as ours, how much better will they comport themselves in Bellefonte?

OUTSIDE PROCEEDINGS.

Under this head we have been able to glean but one item, and that, the abortive attempt of a "Mr. McCracken" to confiscate a fine crisp-brown roasted gobler from the pantry of his Honor Judge A. Looking at the affair from a military point of view "McCracken," very properly considered the Judge an enemy, and therefore he would have been right if successful; but as he failed, he is morally wrong and deserves exposure.

THE CLOSING SCENE.

The last lecturer upon the rostrum was Mr. Smull, the Humorist, and his ideas, manuscript and even himself were so terribly twisted and tangled up that there was no subject, beginning, end or middle to his lecture; and by adding the little extempores of a few teachers to his efforts the thing became such a chaos, and the parting scene so pathetic, that the strong men blew their noses and the dear ladies shed tears copiously.

MOMUS.

HOWARD, PA., Jan. 3d, 1870.

Mr. Stanton in his Sick Room.

[From Wilkes' Spirit of the Times.]

He sat propped up by pillows in the chamber where he died, his cheeks hollow, his hands attenuated, his eyes lustreless, and there was nothing to indicate the mighty nature of the man, but the broad intellectual sphere which loomed above.

The day was tempestuous and gloomy, and the wind howled violently around the angles of the building. After some conversation, we noticed this by saying; that doubtless such dismal noises had the effect of making him feel unusually sad.

"Oh, no," he answered, "not at all, on the contrary, I derive a peculiar pleasure now in listening to the howling of the winds. There was a time when it would make me dreadfully nervous, and keep me awake for hours in the night. Then there were thousands of our boys afloat on the Atlantic coast; others were on the treacherous bosom of the Gulf; others were exposed upon the surface of the Mississippi, and thousands upon thousands lay drenched in camp, or shivering upon picket duty; but"—and here the speaker's eye exhibited reviving light and his voice strengthened into joyful volume—"but the boys are all home now; all home now; out of the reach of the storm!" It is impossible to describe the exquisite tenderness with which this was said, or to explain the emotion which we felt when, as he concluded, we saw a tear break from each lid and quietly roll down his cheeks. We had witnessed the same exhibition from Mr. Stanton at the War Office, and it occurred in the midst of an impassioned description of the barbarities which had been perpetrated by the Confederates upon the Federal soldiers at Andersonville and Libby prisons. This showed the heart and purpose of the man with a nobility of proof that no base slanders can affect.

In another interview at his house, Mr. Stanton spoke of the part he had taken in the last Presidential canvass and expressed regret that his health had broken down before he had time to do justice, through his speeches, to the main influences which had served the country in its hour of peril. Foremost among those influences he placed the loyal press; and it had been his intention, he declared to specify some of the most promising journalists by name.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Horace Greely in Bellefonte.

The renowned Philosopher of the New York Tribune, HORACE GREELEY, having consented to deliver a lecture in Bellefonte, (the subject of which will be announced in due time) the undersigned have the gratification to announce to the citizens of this county that Mr. GREELEY has appointed as the occasion on which he will make his appearance before a Centre county audience. The fame of HORACE GREELEY is co-extensive with the English language, and, though one of the most erratic, he is certainly one of the most remarkable men of the age. As editor of the New York Tribune he is known throughtout the length and breadth of the land and from a journalistic point of view, he stands second to no living man. Everybody has heard of him everybody wants to see him, and curiosity to know what he looks like will do much towards securing him a large audience.—Coming here under editorial auspices, (both Republican and Democratic) he will not appear as a partizan, and Democrats and Republicans are alike invited to come and hear him.

The tickets for Mr Greeley's lecture are now printed, and will be sold at the bookstores and by agents throughout the county. Perfect arrangements will be made for securing reserved seats, and ushers will be in attendance to conduct those holding reserved tickets to their places.

Tickets to all parts the house 50 cents. Reserved seats 75 cents. Let everybody come that distressing disease and fell destroyer of health and happiness, undermining the constitution, and yearly carrying thousand to untimely graves, can most emphatically be cured.

MELANCHOLY, ABERATION, that state of alienation and weakness of the mind which renders persons incapable of enjoying the pleasures or peforming the duties of life.

RHEUMATISM,

in any form or condition, chronic or acute, warranted curable.

EPILEPSY,

or falling sickness, all chronic or stubborn cases

FEMALE DISEASES,

radically removed; Salt Rheum and every description of ulcerations; Piles and Scrofulous diseases which have baffled all previous medical skill, can be cured by my treatment; and I do say all diseases, (yes Consumption) can be cured by wearing my Medicated Jacket, which is a protection to the lungs against all changes of weather in all climates. Having investigated for years the cause and character of intermittents (fever and ague) in all parts of the United States, will cure permanently all chronic or acute cases of ague and nervous diseases in a few days.

CANCER CURED WITHOUT the KNIFE, OR DRAWING BLOOD.

Tape worm, that dread to the human family for years, can be removed with two or 3 doses of my newly discovered remedy, warranted in all cases. Consultation in the English and German languages. Will make visits any distance if desired. May be addressed by letter, (confidentially) and medicine sent with proper directions to any part of the country. dec15'69 1y.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

(Estate of Geo. Foust, Dec'd.)

By virtue of an order of the Orphan's Court of Centre county, there will be exposed to Public Sale, on the premises, on the Seven Mountains, Potter tp., on the 15th DAY OF JANUARY, 1870,

a tract of improved land adjoining lands of Drinker's heirs on the North; Cox's heirs on the South, containing having thereon erected a large new Frame Tavern House, Barn, Stables, and other out houses, with never-failing water at the door, an Orchard of Choice Fruit, about 70 acres cleared and in good state of cultivation, the residue well timbered with pine, &c., and known as the Cammeron tract. The Bellefonte & Lewistown Turnpike passes through this tract in front of the buildings, and the Milroy & Bellefonte Railroad, as surveyed and will be located, passes through this tract convenient to the main building. This tract holds out great inducements to capitalists.

263 ACRES, MORE OR LESS,

[The above tract of land if not sold on the said 15th day of January, 1870, will be rented for a term of one year, to the highest bidder, at public outcry.

TERMS OF SALE—The widows thirds to remain in the land during her natural life. The interest to be paid annually to said widow, and at her death, her share or principle to be paid to those legally entitled thereto. One-third of purchase money to be paid on confirmation of sale, and the residue in two annual payments, with interest to be secured by bond and mortgage.

BEST CABINET ORGANS

AT LOWEST PRICES

That the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet and Metropolitan Organs are the Best in the World is proved by the almost unanimous opinion of professional musicians, by the award to them of Seventy-Five Gold and Silver Medals or other highest premiums, at principal industrial competitions within a few years, including the Medal at the Paris Exposition, and by a sale very much greater than that of any similar instruments.—This company manufacture Only First-class Instruments, and will not make "cheap organs" at any price, or suffer an inferior instrument to bear their name. Having greatly increased their facilities for manufacture, by the introduction of new machinery and otherwise, they are now making BETTER ORGANS than Ever Before, at increased economy in cost, which, in accordance with their fixed policy of selling always at least remunerative profit, they are now offering at PRICES OF INFERIOR WORK. Four Octave Organs, Plain Walnut Case, $50. Five Octave Organs, Double Reed, Solid Walnut Case, carved and paneled, with FIVE STOPS (Viola, Diapason, Melodia, Flute, Tremulant), $125. Other styles in proportion.

Circulars, with full particulars, including accurate drawings of the different styles of organs, and much information which will be of service to every purchaser of an organ, will be sent free, and postage paid, to any one desiring them.

LORILLARD'S "EUREKA" Smoking Tobacco is an excellent article of granulated Virginia.

—Wherever introduced it is universally admired.

—It is put up in handsome muslin bags, in which orders for meerschaum Pipes are daily packed.

LORILLARD'S "YACHT CLUB"

Smoking Tobacco has no superior; being delicatinized, it cannot injure nerveless constitutions, or people of sedentary habits.

—It is produced from selections of the finest stock, and prepared by a patented and original manner.

—It is very a romatic, mild, and light in weight—hence it will last much longer than others; nor does it burn or sting the tongue, or leave a disagreeable after taste.

—Orders for genuine, elegantly carved Meerschaum Pipes, silver mounted, and packed in neat leather pocket cases, are placed in the Yacht Club brand daily.

LORILLARD'S CENTURY

Chewing Tobacco.

—This brand of Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco has no superior anywhere.

—It is, without doubt, the best chewing tobacco in the country.

LORILLARD'S SNUFFS

Have been in general use in the United States over 110 years, and still acknowledged "the best" wherever used.

—If your storekeeper does not have these articles for sale, ask him to get them.

—They are sold by respectable jobbers almost everywhere

—Circulars mailed on application.

CARRIERS FIRST Annual Address

TO THE PATRONS OF

The Bellefonte "Republican,"

January 1st, 1870.

HOMER C. BROWN, - - Carrier.

To Patrons all, both great and small
I wish a happy New Year
To maidens fair both short and tall
Wealth, husbands and good cheer.

May heaven's smile serenely shine
And make your wealth abundant:
More prosperous than in sixty-nine,
Full, runing o'er, redundant.

TIME! Time! in thy triumphal flight
How all life's phantom's fleet away!
The smile of hope and young delight
Fame's meteor beam, and fancy's ray!
They fade; and on the heaving tide
Rolling its stormy waves afar,
Are borne the wreck of human pride
The broken wreck of Fortune's war.

"Remorseless Time!
Fierce spirit of the glass and scythe—what power
Can stay him in his silent course, or melt
His iron heart with pity"

"Where is the world," cries Young, "at eighty? Where The world in which a man was born"? Alas!
Where is the world of eight years past? Twas there—

I look for it—tis gone, a globe of glass!
Crack'd, shiver'd, vanish'd; scarcely gazed on ere
A silent change dissolves the glittering mass.

Statesmen, chiefs, orators, queens, patriots, kings,
And dandies, all are gone on the winds, wings."

Oh! Time! how bless'd are we, who yet are here
In health in strength, with minds serene,
With joyful hope, to greet the coming year,
To bless the world with actions good, and
With noble deeds, benevolent, gen'rous and kind
Make all mankind, within our sphere,
Feel and acknowledge, we have not lived in vain.

Old Sixty Nine is gone!—Eighteen hundred
And Sixty-Nine. Gone! Gone! as all the Years in ages past have gone. She came
As they came; and like them did depart;
But doing less, though not less in heart
She aimed at good, to bless mankind she lived,
With plenty all the farmer's barns she filled
Making them thankful. Upon the Merchants too
She smiled complacent. The toiling millions
Viewed her with delight, and with grateful hearts
Praised the giver of all good:
In that, no famine, no pestilence,
No wasting want, nor squalid poverty,
Did come nigh their doors.

Peace was her mission—glorious peace.
She gloried not in war. Spain ill at ease,
And Ireland longing to be free
Groaning beneath a tyrants Yoke,
Mourning her best and noblest sons
Who for Liberty did die, or who in Bastile vile did lie,
Suffering incessantly.

These did invoke her aid:
They thought the time at hand
For vengeance fierce they prayed,
Sought help from every land.
She heard their prayer in part
And Spain, she thus addressed:
"My mission is peace, not war;
War for a cause like thine, Oh! Spain.
I will not aid your falling star
Nor give you a crown'd head again.
The insurgents are struggling to be free
I'll hand all over to Young '70"

To Ireland then she turned,
With mercy in each look.
The weak she never spurned
Their cause she n'er forsook,
And thus she spoke; "Glorious Ireland
Your wrongs are great, your martyrs many,
Your sons are noble and for freedom sigh:
But hold! in patience wait. Strike not, any,
The time of thy redemption draweth nigh.
But not in my day. You must hope and wait,
The prophet says for '78."
Good advice, was this and may't be heeded
By Ireland's sons; And so soon as needed;
Hundreds will arm, and help to strike the blow,
That will the British Lion and his power o'erthrow.

With peace upon her banner,
Her great heart full of love,
In look, in thought, in manner,
As mild as turtle dove;
She lived to bless the nations,
All peoples every where,
To give them all their rations
Was her especial care.

She sought not war nor glory
As Years had done before.
Though conversant with the story
Of '61 and '64:
The story of the rebels
The Johnny Rebs I ween.
Who goaded on like devils
Behaved so very mean.

This brings us to America,
Land of the brave and free,
Where sov'reign is the title,
Applied to you and me.

Our Rulers are our servants,
Our will they must obey;
But 'twill be seen by the observant
The servants draw the pay.

Land of the Pilgrims pride,
Land where our fathers died,
Land where no tyrants chide,
Sweet land of Liberty.

Our native land, thy glory,
All other lands outshine;
In war, in peace, in story,
There is none to equal thine.

The people all, just as they should,
Are equal and content,
And U. S. Grant the great and good,
Is our worthy President.

Once a little humble boy,
Tanner by occupation;
Like pure gold, without alloy,
He honor'd every station.

In the nation's battle,
He fought it 'on that line;"
Made Lee and Johnson rattle
And the rebels come to time.

But when the war was over,
To calm the troubl'd seas;
He wrote, like a true soldier,
And said "Let us have Peace."

Sixty-nine, just born in time,
To hear the great petition:
In language fine, with voice divine,
Said Peace was her true mission.

With honest heart, she did her part,
To aid her chosen leader,
In giving peace, and wealth, and ease,
To every old seceder.

With peace restor'd the nation moored,
Safely in the harbor:
She said to Grant, Oh! how I pant,
I'm burning up with ardor.

To save this land, I understand,
Is heaven's great desire,
And how can I, though much I try
The nations heart inspire?

Here Liberty, must live or die,
So too, civilization,
Unite with me, and let us see,
How to bind this nation.

In bonds of love, as from above,
Join State and State together,
In Union met, the past forget;
Never more to sever.

The surest way, she then did say,
(A thought to some terrific)
Is build I say, without delay,
A Rail Road to Pac fic.

No sooner spoken, soil was broken.
The people all did strike,
And Sixty-nine, with spirits fine,
Drove down the "Golden spike."

The country saved, the world amaz'd,
To see the close communion,
All, all did feel, that ribs of steel,
Would bind our sacred Union.

But of the nation and its head,
I think sufficient has been said:
Let's come home, and at a venture,
Talk a little 'bout old Centre.

Old Centre County; hail! all hail!
My native place! of thee I'm proud;
Of thee to speak, I would not fail,
But sound thy praises long and loud.

Thy praises who can sound? What man?
Not the carrier of the REPUBLICAN:
'Twould take an abler tongue, or pen,
To tell the story of thy loyal men.

Therefore, adieu! I'm nearly done;
But through the rain, the snow and sun,
I've put the paper in your hand,
Which gives the news from all the land,
And now I want—don't turn away—
I want what I deserve—my pay—
A half will do—pray do not frown;
But give the scrip to

H. C. BROWN.

THANKS.—Mr. C. W. Lambert, of the Sunny Side Garden, will please except our thanks for our Christmas and New Years Celery.

AGENT.—Our friend David C Walker, of Nittany Hall, this county, is now traveling as Agent for the Juniata Valley Nurseries, Mifflintown, Pa. Mr. Walter is a reliable and trustworthy man and is traveling for one of the best nurseries in the State.

BROCKERHOFF.—Messrs. Houseal & Krom, Proprietors of the Brockerhoff House, have our thanks, for a lot of very excellent sausage. There is no better Hotel in Central Pennsylvania than the Brockerhoff, and no two men could accommodate their guests better than Messrs Houseal & Krom.

THANKS.—J. & G. Alexander have our thanks for the two large turkies they sent us for our New Years dinner.

These gentlemen are well known to the people of this county and need no encomiums from us. Their good deeds and useful lives, speak volumns in their favor and say to all, "go thou and do likewise."

Their store is well supplied with goods, groceries, &c., all of which they are selling at small profits.

HOWARD.—The communication relating to Howard, &c., is crowded out. We also take occasion, here, to say to our friends in that enterprising town, that the young man from Bellefonte, who attempted to pass himself off as a Reporter for the REPUBLICAN was not acting in good faith. We never sent him. We would not pass him over so lightly, only for the respect we bare his worthy parents and his respectable connections who, no doubt, would be pained to hear of his audacious and contemptible conduct.

All we have said is in justice to ourselves, and to let our readers and the members of the "Institute" know that we do not send out that kind of reporters.

We are sorry, we could not attend the Institute.

Dr. E. K. Thompson, Mr. J. J. Marsh, Mrs. N. Potter, Mr. A. T. Ballintine, and many other citizens of this city, acknowledge their relief from Chronic Catarrh, due to Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Perhaps no other remedy ever offered to the public has acquired such popularity in so short a time as Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. When once tried it recommends itself. It is now on sale in nearly every store in the land.—Titusville Morning Herald. ja 5-2t.

NEW STORE.—Maj. Forster, formerly Revenue Assessor for this District; has purchased the Stock of Howell, Gilliland & Co., and opened a splendid store in the room formerly occupied by the above named firm. The Major has also added a large stock of New Goods from the Eastern cities. Major Forster is a good business man and we have no doubt will make it an object to the people of Centre County to deal with him. We will have more to say next week.

GROCERIES.—Levi A. Miller is determined to sell, everything usually kept in a Grocery Store, at reduced prices He says he will not be undersold by any establishment in town. He is a clever fellow, and proved his magnanimity by several nice presents to the REPUBLICAN office and its editors. He made the boys in the office all smoke, by presenting them with a box of nice cigars, and made us thankful for sundry nice presents. We ate goose, Levi, until we almost felt, that we belonged to one of the "water power" establishments.

LIABILITY.—One of our State Courts lately awarded one thousand dollars damages to a man who slipped on the ice in front of a private residence, the Court ruling that any person allowing ice to remain on the sidewalk was liable for all personal damage ensuing.

The citizens of this place should bear this decision in mind. By sprinkling ashes or coarse salt on their sidewalks, they can cheat the Surgeon out of his fees for setting broken limbs, and save themselves from paying $1,000 damages.

DEDICATION.—The M. E. Church, at Spring Mills, having been repaired will be dedicated, on Sunday the 9th inst. Professor Bowman, Rev. M. P. Crosthewaite and other, distinguished ministers will be present.

Our Methodist friends of Spring Mills, have displayed great energy and good taste in the remodling of their church. Not one dollar has been expended in vain. We hope that the people who attend the dedicatory services, will give with an open hand, and a willing heart, that not one dollar of debt may be left upon the church.

THE undersigned begs leave to tender this public expression of gratitude for the kind manner in which his friends of Bellefonte, were pleased to remember him on the first day of the New Year, and also on the preceding evening. The testimonial was a munificent one, and fully evidenced the kindness and sympathy of their hearts. As such it was received, and as such it will live in the memory of him who has been made the recipient of a favor so acceptable and, at the same time, so undeserved.

May the blessing of God attend their steps through life, and when the years of their pilgrimage on earth are ended may they all find a home and resting place in Heaven. JAS. MULLEN.
Pastor of M. E. Church.

WHOSE BOY IS THAT?—He may be seen any day, in almost any part of the town—he never makes room for you on the sidewalk, looks at you saucily and swears smartly if asked anything—he is very impudent, and often vulgar to women who pass—he delights in frightening and sometimes does serious injuries to little boys and girls—he lounges at the street corners, and is the first arrival at a dog fight or any other sort of scrape—he crowds into the postoffice in the evening, and multiplies himself and his antics at such a rate that people having legitimate business there are crowded out; he thinks himself very sharp, he is certainly very noisy—he can smoke and chew tobacco now and then, and rip out an oath almost any time—we ask whose boy is he? Mother is he yours? We think he is, for there are many good qualities in the lad, and we do not think that you know what he does on the streets. Look after him, mother, keep him more at home, train him, and you will have a son to be proud of some day.

IN MEMORIAM.—Mr. John Holt, of Moshannon, Centre County, Pa., departed this life on the 23d of Nov., 1869, while on a visit to his daughter in Princeton, Illinois. Mr. Holt was born April 15th, 1796, on the Bald Eagle, on the farm, on which Judge Barnhart now lives. In the year 1819, he married Miss May Harbison, who went to her reward one year and four months before him. Thus, for nearly 50 years, these humble servants of God lived in as much happiness as falls to the lot of mortals. Both early professed their faith in Christ. Both were members of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church, in charge of the venerable Dr. Linn. Mr. Holt moved to Snow Shoe, in 1824, which was then a wilderness. They (Mr. and Mrs. Holt,) were two of the first members of the Moshannon Presbyterian church, when it was organized, on the 25th of September, 1852. They ever supported the church, both with their means and presence. They were seldom absent from the house of God. On the 16th of June 1866, Mr. Holt was elected a Ruling Elder in the Moshannon church, in which office he remained faithful 'till the day of his death. In the death of these two faithful servants of God the little church of Moshannon has sustained a great loss. But our loss is their great gain. In life they were faithful, and in death they were victorious. Three of their seven children survive them and nineteen grand children. Mr. Holt's remains were brought home and interred on the 18th of Dec., 1869, at Snow Shoe. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

CONCERT.—The Concert at Beech Creek, for the benefit of the new M. E. Church, at that place was a complete success. The new church which is 45 by 65 feet, was filled to overflowing. On Saturday evening, (New Years,) there were over 600 people in the church, the proceeds of the concert will be nearly $200,00. Everything passed off quietly. Good order prevailed.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Monday night, the 27th of December, as the B. E. V, Express Train going East, was crossing the public road, near Mill Hall, Samuel Brewer, of Bald Eagle township, Clinton County, attempted to drive his horses and wagon across the Railroad in front of the approaching train; but just as the horses had crossed the track the cow catcher struck the wagon and smashed it up, throwing Mr. Brewer some twenty feet. He was taken up in an insensible condition and carried to a house in Mill Hall, where medical aid was procured; but his injuries were so serious that he died about six hours after the accident. Mr. Brewer was about 33 years of age, and leaves a wife and several small children to mourn his untimely death.

Liquor was the cause of the accident. Had he been sober he would have kept out of the way of the approching train.

WHEREAS, The Great Author of Liberty has seen fit to call from our Lodge, our late Bro. Thos. McCoy, to that heavenly Lodge, where the patriots of all nations unite in praising Him who doeth all things well; and

WHEREAS, The fraternal chain which bound us in mutual friendship with our departed friend has been severed no more to be united, until that final day of judgement; therefore,

Resolved, That while we humbly bow to this divine dispensation, we yet feel that our cause has lost a strong advocate and our Lodge an earnest co worker.

Resolved, That we respectfully offer our sincere sympathies to his bereaved widow and to the relatives of our deceased brother, in this their hour of affliction

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered on the minutes of this Lodge, No. 153, I. O. of O. F., a copy sent to the Widow, and a copy furnished to the Bellefonte papers for publication.

DONATION.—The members of the Presbyterian Church, of Snow Shoe, and friends in the vicinity, met in the Snow Shoe Church on Friday, Dec. 27th, '69, at 4 o'clock, p. m., and presented their Pastor, Rev. W. O. Wright, with a purse containing one hundred and two dollars and fifty cents, besides a quantity of tea and sugar. Of this sum the gentlemen contributed $88.50, and the ladies $14, with teas, &c. Mr. John S. Sommerville in presenting the purse, spoke as follows: "Mr. Wright, Ladies and Gentlemen—When I first visited Snow Shoe, one dense forest covered the face of the country; but where naught but the tall pines and hemlocks, and the gnarled and knotted oak, now are seen green fields and a thriving village. I then told the few inhabitants, that some day they would see a Railroad to this place. They did not believe it possible. But what do we see to-day? We have a Railroad and are surrounded by all the luxuries and conveniences of civilization; but what is best of all, we have a church in which we can worship God according to the dictates of our conscience." When, turning, he said: "Sir—In behalf of the ladies and gentlemen of this church and community, I present you with this purse; containing $102,50." The liberality of this church and people deserve to be noted and imitated. "Go thou and do likewise."

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF MILES TOWNSHIP.—Number of schools, 9; number graded, 4, (2 at Madisonburg and 2 at Rebersburg); of the last named, one constitutes a Central High School, located at Rebersburg, four (4) pupils being admitted from each sub-district in the township. This method of grading is respectfully recommended for rural districts. Every township should sustain a High School. Number of male teachers in district, 7; female, 2, average age of teachers, 24 years. Of these, 2 have had no previous experience in teaching, whilst 4 have taught more than five years—one having 25 years. Eight have attended a County, and one a State Normal School. Two hold professional certificates.

The Rebersburg High School is taught by Mr. Henry Meyer. Number of pupils, 35; Orthography, Reading, Grammar, Geography, Physiology, Map-drawing, Writing, Phonetic Spelling, Composition, Written and Mental Arithmetic, are studied by every pupil; United States History, 2; Physical Geography, 0; Algebra, 4. System and thoroughness characterize this school. The topical method is used exclusively in conducting the recitations. The advantage of this method is that scholars learn to depend upon themselves and are taught to use their scholarship.

Rebersburg Primary School, taught by Miss Beckie A. Conser. Number of pupils, 56. Order tolerably good, but the want of proper home training is plainly seen in a few of the more "unruly."

Forsters' school, taught by Mr. C. L. Gramly. Number of pupils, 56.

Gramly's school, taught by Mr. J. H. Chatham. Number of pupils, 37.

Stover's school, taught by Mr. Ammon Wolf. Number of pupils, 16.

Brumgards' school, taught by J. C. Burkert. Number of pupils, 36.

Wolf's school, taught by Mr. N. M. Franck. Number of pupils, 47.

Madisonburg Primary school, taught by Miss Carrie Thompson. Number of pupils, 48.

Madisonburg Grammar school, taught by Mr. S. H. Harper, (a teacher of 25 years experience in Lebanon, Lancaster and Lehigh counties) Number of pupils, 32. Here is excellent material, but as yet the school is very poorly classified. Teachers should exercise a little more firmness. The most of the above named schools are orderly and quiet, a sense of right seeming to pervade the schools. Cleanliness and taste are particularly manifest in Wolf's, Brumgards and Rebersburg High schools. A few flowers, pictures, &c., not only ornament the school room, but prove to the teacher important aids in teaching and governing.

The classification is good in the two schools at Rebersburg, the Madisonburg Primary and Forster's; can be somewhat improved in the others. Call bells and class registers are used in nearly all, and Phonetic spelling, Map drawing and oral Physiology, is being introduced into all. Singing is practiced in all.

The attendance ranges from 60 to 90 per cent.

The Scriptures are read daily, as a devotional exercise, in all.

The superintendent was accompanied in visiting 7 schools, by 3 different directors. Eighteen patrons met with them in the schools.

The school houses are generally good, except Forster's and Gramley's. The furniture in the two last named, and also in the one at Stover's, is entirely unfit for use. It could be re-modeled with but very little expense.

There are still four schools destitute of privies. When will the directors attend to this shameful neglect of duty? The directors in this district have taken a retrograde step in changing the mode of grading their teachers' salaries.

The best qualified teachers should receive the best wages. R. M. M.

WEDNESDAY MORNING Jan. 5, '69

A Stricken Mother's Curse.

SHE WRITES A LETTER TO THE MURDERER OF HER BOY—AWFUL WORDS OF CONDEMNATION.

The Manistee (Mich.) Times publishes the following letter, written to a murderer named Vanderpool by the mother of his victim:

To George Vanderpool:

I have thought of writing to you for a long time, even before you murdered my son. I wish in the name of God I had done so, though it might not have deterred you from doing that horrible deed. In the first place, Herbert confided in and looked to you for counsel and advice, as to an older brother. I was very particular, when he was at home, to inquire about your moral and religious principles. Herbert said but very little concerning you; said that you attended church, but he told me that he had rather work for sixteen dollars a month than go back again. Now I know the cause; you were so arbitrary and exacting, so perfectly heartless. The English language has not words to express the magnitude of the crime you have committed. It was plotted away down deep in hell by you and Satan. He has been your master for a long time; he will be your companion through eternity. I had no idea of one so vile on this earth. I should think the face and form of your murdered victim would haunt you by day and night. His imploring, agonized look, his bleeding head; his form as you threw it down those steps, as you drew it into his own boat, as you threw it into the water—I should think you would hear that awful sound forever, yes, forever! I have as yet no pity, no prayer to God, who alone can save, for you. I know the Saviour was murdered by men like you, that sinners might be saved. God alone knows whether grace can be extended to you. I hope you will suffer the extreme penalty of the law here, and I doubt not that you will hereafter.—For God says: "Vengeance is mine, I will repay." So, after the people of Manistee have done their duty, I know God will do His; He will appoint your portion just where you belong. You not only murdered my darling son in the most brutal manner, but you tried to rob him of his good name which to me is better than life; you robbed him of all he possessed, which would have made life pleasant, as he thought. Satan himself blushes at what you have done, and still persist in doing. I wish to ask you a few questions, which I want you to answer in truth or not at all. The judgment day will soon reveal all I wish to ask. Did Herbert speak my name, "mother," after you struck him the first blow? Did he live many minutes? Or was he alive when you threw him into the water? That you are his murderer you will not deny, for everything inanimate witnesses against you even the bloody prints of your fingers on his shirts that were sent home.—You even robbed his trunk of every little memorial that would have given us some satisfaction. Don't you ever dare to put on one of his shirts you stole, or use one of his home stitched handkerchiefs, or anything that belongs to him. I hope to be able to come to Manistee soon; if I am not, I will meet you at the judgment to condemn you. You have robbed me of an idolized son of a brother dearer than life. You have robbed a large circle of friends of a loving companion; you have robbed the world of a good citizen, and you may rest assured when you are hung, which you will be, you will be nearer heaven than you will ever be again. From

Mrs. MARY S. FIELD,
Mother of Herbert Field, whom you so cruelly murdered.

Sayings By Josh Billings.

A gentleman iz a gentleman the world over—loafers differ.

Benevolence iz the cream that rises with horns on both ends—he will hev more fites on hand than he kan well attend to.

Hunting after happiness iz like hunting after a lost sheep in the wilderness when you find it the chances are that it iz a skeleton.

A dog iz the only animal kritter who luvs you more than himself.

Old friends are like old cheese, the stronger the better.

All money that iz well spent iz a good investment.

If we would all ov us take care ov our own souls, and let our neighbor's alone, three would be less time lost and more souls saved.

Before I would preach the gospel az some ministers are obliged to, for 150 dollars a year, I would get a living as Nebudkenezzer did, and let the congregashun go tew grass too.

Contentment is the vittles and drink ov the soul.

Did you ever hear a son bragging about hiz father, whose father could with justiss brag about hiz son?

The safest kind ov faith I kno ov is humanity.

A brilliant blunder in a writer iz often one ov hiz best hits.

Sucking a whipt sillybub thru a rhy straw iz a good deal like trieing to live on duty.

I never knu a profound phool yet who did effekt gravity nor a truly wize man whose face was not alwus cocked and primed for a laugh.

New York city iz a fast place—yu kant even pass a phuneral procession unless you have got the fasstest hoss.

A pompous man iz like a full-blown bladder; it iz pure malice to prick him.

The money and morality uv this world iz a good deal alike, the principle never losing sight uv the interest.

Pitty costs nothing—and aint worth nothing.

Poverty iz one uv them kind uv misfortunes that we all uv us dread, but none uv us pity.

There iz lots of people in this world who covet misfortune, jist for the luxury uv grunting.

It iz comparatively eazy to repent uv the sins that we hav committed, but to repent uv those we intend to commit, iz asking tew much uv enny man nowadays.

Most men go thru life as rivers go to the sea, by following the lay uv the ground.

Household Recipes.

PLAIN PUNKIN-PIES.—Six cups of sifted flour; two and a half cups of lard, shaved with a knife into the flour; one tablespoon filled level with salt. Moisten with two cups of water or less (as moist as can be rolled). In mixing, handle as lightly as possible. Several strips of the paste (rolled up very thin) placed in layers around the edge, extending far enough to allow the custard to conceal where they terminate below, give a finish. Some persons are in the habit of notching and ornamenting the edge of the pie by flattening it at intervals. This is a mistake, as any pressing upon the paste interferes with the proper flaky appearance. Pie-crust should also invariably be made in a cool place.

To prepare the pumpkin for baking: Peel it take out the seeds, cut in pieces, put it in hot water, and let it stew until soft. Then strain it through a colander.

A CHEAP PAINT FOR FENCES, ETC.—Two quarts of skim milk, eight ounces of fresh slaked lime, six ounces of boiled linseed-oil, two ounces of white Burgundy pitch; dissolve in the oil by gentle heat. The lime must be slacked in cold water and dried until it crumbles into fine powder, then mix it with one-fourth part of milk, adding the oil and pitch (mixed) by degrees. Stir the mixture, adding the remainder of the milk, and then add three pounds of Spanish white. Other colors may be used instead of the Spanish white, if necessary. This paint is highly recommended by English gardeners for painting gates, sheds, or other farm-buildings.

INDIAN CORN VINEGAR.—A correspondent of the Queenslander, Australia, gives the following directions for making vinegar from Indian corn: "Steep about a quart of maize in about five gallons of cold water for two or three hours, and then put it on the fire until the maize shows signs of bursting. Do not let it burst, but take it off the fire and strain the liquor into a cask, and add about two pounds of sugar to it. Set the cask in a place where the sun can shine upon it, and in three or four weeks it will be found to contain five gallons of good vinegar. Less quantities can be made in the same way."

HOW I MAKE DUTCH CHEESE.—I am a farmer's girl, and can make tip-top Dutch cheese, I have made enough in my life to make a small Egyptain pyramid, and the following is may modus operandi: "Take a quantity of newly loppered milk, place it in a kettle, over a moderate fire, and let it heat gradually until the curd is entirely separated from the whey; then add your salt and a small piece of butter, and when these are worked thoroughly through the curd, form it into small balls. If you cook the curd too long it will be tough and stringy."—Cor. of Boston Cultivator.

SULPHUR FOR LICE ON CATTLE.—How shall we kill the lice on our cattle? I have tried almost all the panaceas I have seen recommended. Some of them have proved beneficial, while others—kerosene oil, for instance—were worse than the disease. I have settled upon the following, which has proved entirely satisfactory to me. Fill the hair full of sulphur, rubbing it in thoroughly with the hand; and give the animal a little internally, with its meal or salt. Two or three applications have always effected a cure.—Cor. of New England Farmer.

DURABLE AND CHEAP WROUGHT-NAILS.—We presume every farmer understands the usual method of making cut-nails flexible by heating them, but if instead of allowing them to cool in the air, they are thrown when red-hot into linseed-oil, it will prevent their rusting almost as long as though they were galvanized. Those who have occasion to use cut-nails in place of wrought should not forget this simple method of preventing rust.

TO REMOVE GREASE-SPOTS.—A lady correspondent says that she has an improvement on Mrs. Kate Hunnibee's plan to remove grease from silks, etc. It is to place a piece of the thick, soft blotting paper used by accountants on the table, then lay the soiled part of the dress on it. Put another piece of the blotting paper on that, and press with a hot iron on the paper.

For a Cold—Take a teaspoonful of crab apple jelly every hour or two.—The relief it affords is almost immediate, and has proved permanent.

THE more turnips and potatoes fed to Cattle during the winter Season the better. Nothing pays the farmer so well as proper care of his stock

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the Tune of "Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now comes connection's made,—
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of traveling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest prices.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality,

SHUTTERS, BRACKETS,
SCROLL WORK,
and manufactured lumber of

EVERY DESCRIPTION

at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

All manner of work such as Scroll Sawing, Moulding, Brackets, &c., &c made after any desired pattern.

ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

This company is composed of practicable mechanics, and Samuel Adams, one of the Co., has been foreman of the Bellefonte Planing Mill since its commencement.

Connected with the mill, and in operation at all times, is one of the latest improved

COKE DRYING KILNS;

which leaves the lumber in a perfectly healthy state, assists in preserving it, and in fact adds to its lasting qualities, while other methods of drying deteriorate, and renders it more liable

TO DECAY AND WASTE.

Lumber dried in a Coke kiln, is dried perfectly, and when worked and put up, will not

SHRIVEL AND SHRINK,

thus giving buildings the appearance of having been erected out of Green Material

We know that our facilities give us every advantage over other

PLANING MILLS IN THIS SECTION

and we feel perfectly free in saying, that all our

WORK WILL BE GUARANTEED,

to be of

A SUPERIOR QUALITY.

We will furnish anything in our line from a door panel, to a

SEWING MACHINES

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE

OVER-SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.

In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.

It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages unclassically its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly, and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.

The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.

Lessons may be taken if desired with a view to test the Machine, or to become better acquainted with it before deciding to purchase. Samples of work will be furnished upon application at are simple and easily understood. Its delicate though enduring and tireless muscles of iron and steel, do all the work neverously, better, and few will deny, "Faster than hand can do it." They urge those wishing to purchase a machine, to examine all the other manufactures before buying, as it will, for itself, overcome all the objections to the other machines that can be brought against it. Machines on hand for sale and exhibition, together with a full and complete assortment of
